'PERFECT EVENT'

Old Glory flutters in the breeze as the Madison-owned U1 Goodman Real Estate/Home-Street Bank Miss Madison pulls away from the field in the APBA Gold Cup final on Sunday in Madison. The team celebrated its first Gold Cup win in 1971 by repeating that feat 50 years later on the same course.

Rockets bursting over the Ohio River was the big show for the thousands who turned out for Saturday night's fireworks.

BIG REGATTA CROWDS SIGNAL REOPENING OF MADISON

BY BOB DEMAREE

A year after the COVID-19 pandemic canceled the Madison Regatta — and just about every other local event in 2020 — crowds once again lined the banks of the Ohio River and packed Regatta Events in a massive semblance of things returning to normal.

The crowd was massive for Friday's Madison Regatta Parade on Main Street — spectators standing 10 deep in some locations — and thousands turned out for the big fireworks show Saturday night along the riverfront. A big crowd attended the Roostertail Music Festival on both Friday and Saturday and attended looked to be stronger on both side of the Ohio River for Sunday's final day of H1 Unlimited and Grand Prix America boat races.

"This was a great event and a great way to reopen our festival season," Madison Mayor Bob Courtney said of the huge crowds that turned out for the city's marquee events over the Fourth of July holiday. He said it should only get better from here.

"Everybody had a great time, we saw great racing and a big win by the hometown team," Courtney added. "It was a big safe outdoor event and the crowds were great. Everybody could socially distance or sit with friends and family and a lot of people have already had their vaccinations."

Madison native LaVergne Helton of Jeffersonville, said she's been waiting all year for a chance to enjoy activities in crowds without worry.

"I was excited. It's been a whole year without many events," she said. "I feel much better now that I have been vaccinated, and I am more comfortable being in crowds."

During the pandemic, Helton wore a mask and followed safety guidelines, but she was thrilled Sunday to be enjoying the Madison Regatta. "It's wonderful to be here with family and friends."

Pam Coker, of Madison, said Sunday was an opportunity for "hanging out with family and friends" even though she was "weary" after a year of COVID-19. "I've been coming to the Regatta for many years."

Scott Gumberts, of Morristown, was disappointed when last year's race was canceled due to COVID-19 so he was looking forward to the event once restrictions related to the pandemic were lifted.

"It's great to be back," said Gumberts, who has attended the last five Madison Regattas with his wife, Lisa.

Gumberts, who described himself as passionate about racing — "if it has an engine, we watch it if it's racing"— said he felt safe because he and his wife both have been vaccinated against COVID-19. The Regatta wasn't their first time in crowds since COVID-19. He attended this year's Indianapolis 500 that was run with 135,000 fans in attendance —about 40% of the track's unofficial capacity — and even though the 2020 Indianapolis 500 was officially run without fans, he said he was there on site looking through the gates.

Gumberts also noted that he and wife came to Madison for more than just the racing.

"We had a great couple of days here," he said, noting they enjoy the community a lot. "We do like coming down here. It's a nice area and not that far of a drive."

That's exactly what Jefferson County and the local tourism industry want to hear after seeing most of 2020 washed

Grand Prix American driver Mario Maraldo and his wife, Kathleen Maraldo, of Harrison Township, Michigan, were en route to the Madison Regatta Thursday and pulling their boat, GP-59 Baby Doll Racing, when their rig crashed on US 421 near Martinin Lane in Trimble County.

Boat racer crashes vehicle en route to Regatta

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

A motor vehicle accident involving a motor home pulling a boat headed to the Madison Regatta sent a Michigan woman to a Louisville hospital Thursday.

Longtime Grand Prix driver Mario Maraldo and his wife, Kathleen, were involved in a crash Thursday on US 421 near Martinin Lane in Trimble County, Kentucky.

The Maraldos, of Harrison Township, Michigan, were traveling to the Madison Regatta when the accident occurred, totaling their motor home and damaging their boat and trailer.

Chad Johnson, public affairs officer for the Kentucky State Police Post 5, said Mario, 83, was driving north on US 421 towards Bedford, Kentucky, when a tire on the motor home went off the roadway, causing him to lose control of the vehicle and hit a tree. Kathleen Maraldo, 77, was injured and transported to University of Louisville Hospital.

A boat racing group, Marine Prop Riders, reported Kathleen's injuries were to her hip and foot and non-life threatening. She reportedly will remain at University Hospital for a short time until arrangements can be made for her to return to Michigan to complete recovery.

Mario, who owns the GP-59 Baby Doll Racing team, has been racing since 1959 when he acquired his first boat from Roy Ruby. Mario is longtime treasurer of the Marine Prop Riders club, which was established in 1951 to promote inboard hydroplane racing in the Detroit area.

Marine Prop Riders released a statement on social media that the organization is "grateful that we still have Kathleen and Mario, and wish strongly for Kathleen's quick recovery."

In addition to Kentucky State Police, Trimble County Sheriff's Department, Trimble County Emergency Medical Service, Henry County EMS, Bedford Volunteer Fire Department, Air Methods and Burrows Towing were on the scene.

Let Us Pause To Honor The Memory Of

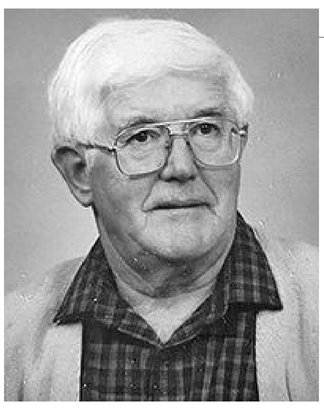
Mr. Delbert Henry "Billy" Bruther



Mr. Delbert Henry "Billy" Bruther, age 91, of Hanover, Indiana entered this life on May 1, 1930 in Hanover, Indiana. The loving son of the late Gordon W. and Eva Mae Means Bruther, Delbert resided all of his life in the Hanover community and was of the Baptist faith. His mother died when he was 11 years old and his sisters - Margie, Luci, Waneta and Emma Lou - all played an instrumental role in helping raise him. His family nicknamed him "Billy" and a lot of his friends called him "Deb". A farmer at heart, he enjoyed the farm all of his life and was especially proud of his recently restored International Harvester 706 tractor. When he wasn't farming, he often helped his father with the bus route for the Southwestern school system and later worked 10 years in maintenance for Jeff Boat in Jeffersonville. Delbert also hauled gravel and lime for neighbors and area farmers. Given the honorary title "Mayor of Hanover," he loved making his daily rounds to Dicus Farm and Implement Store to catch up on the news, socializing with his best friend "Shorty" and venturing to Hinkle's Sandwich Shoppe in downtown Madison. He enjoyed cooking, eating, being the "Candy Man" to many area children, visiting yard sales, gardening, sharing his produce with neighbors and friends, and fishing. His favorite roles in life though were being a great husband, devoted dad, loving papaw and a fantastic brother and uncle. Delbert died on Friday, July 2, 2021, at 8:40 a.m. at his home in Hanover, Indiana with his devoted family at his side.

Wanting to reconnect with estranged sister

ANNIE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: When I was a child, I had many chilling things happen to me. I barely remember some incidents, and they don't seem to affect me now — well, other than the mental illness running through my entire body.

Anyway, as a 47-year-old looking back, one thing still hurts me to the core and brings tears to my eyes as I write this: I miss my sister. And I miss her because there is this huge divide between us stemming from something that happened when I was 17. I was forced to reveal to her and my mother, at a psychiatric treatment facility for depression, that my mother's ex-husband had abused me when I was in seventh and eighth grade, and my sister flat-out told me and the therapist that she didn't believe it.

How do I repair our relationship if she never believed me to begin with? — Brokenhearted

Dear Brokenhearted: You were very brave to tell your sister what happened. Sadly, it was too painful for her to say she is sorry for what happened. Hopefully, in time, she will gain strength and compassion for you, and you can begin to heal your relationship. But regardless of your relationship with your sister, your relationship with yourself and the trauma that you suffered are first and foremost. I believe you, and I am sorry that happened to you.

You can heal and become stronger than before, but the 13-year-old girl has to heal first. Once you tell her that it was not her fault what happened to her, and your adult self starts to heal, your relationship with your mother and sister will shift. Even if they don't say they believe you, you will better understand that it is too painful for them to admit it. Best of luck to you, and my hope is that your heart begins to heal itself.

Dear Annie: Several years ago, one of my nieces got married. Both the bride and groom were fresh out of school — law school for one and a master's degree for the other. Knowing they were planning to live in a very expensive city and state and were both going to be working in entry-level civil service and entry-level university jobs, my husband and I agreed a generous financial gift and heartfelt card with a personal note would be our gift.

We attended the destination wedding. There were approximately 100 guests in total. But during the reception, we were never given the opportunity to be within 10 feet of the bride and groom. We never received a thank you for our gift and would not have been assured it had been received except for checking our account and seeing that the check had been cashed and the bride's mother telling me several months later that they really had needed the money and it was appreciated.

Now they have had their second child, and I sent a small gift from their registry. Sadly, this will probably be the last gift to their family if they cannot find the time to even send a small personal acknowledgment — even by email or text message. — Disappointed Aunt

Dear Disappointed: Disappointment, anger and frustration are all valid feelings when you give a gift to someone and they fail to acknowledge it. It just doesn't feel good. But what feels even worse is to not feel grateful for the gifts you have been given in life. It looks as if your niece is too busy to take the time to express her gratitude for the family that loves her.

Twin brothers can't get along

ANNIE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I come from a big family. I have seven brothers and two sisters, and I'm their third sister.

The older five brothers and two sisters are living in a different town, but it is within driving distance of where I live.

The younger two brothers, who are twins, live in the same town that I am in. Let's call them "Nick" and "Luke." We are all in our 50s and live within two minutes of one another. Nick and Luke do not get along. They can't even stand to be in the same room. Whenever we are invited to family functions, if Nick shows up first, I have to text Luke and inform him that Nick is here. Luke will only show up after Nick leaves.

I love both of my brothers and have made it clear that I will not let one brother talk negatively about the other, but they slip it into the conversation, and I have to shut it down. If I go to lunch with one, then the other one gets upset. I feel like I don't want to talk to either one right now. — Stuck in the Middle

Dear Stuck in the Middle: You are literally stuck in the middle. Not allowing each brother to say negative things about the other in front of you is a great place to start. The next step would be to see if they can forgive each other or try to talk about why they don't get along. You are all one family.

Remind each twin that we don't get to choose our family. They spent nine months together in the womb, and their anger toward each other might simply be on the surface, hiding their intense feelings of closeness that they refuse to acknowledge. I would suggest counseling for yourself to come up with a plan to help Nick and Luke. And don't forget, all those older brothers and sisters might be able to help.

Dear Annie: Although I know that "Karen" is used as an example of entitled women, I don't think it was necessary for your reader to use it in the customer etiquette column. She could have said a client books an appointment, making the same point without using the name Karen. The message would have been the same.

I am not sure why it is OK to use someone's name for a stereotype. My name is Karen, and to me, it is hurtful. — Karen

Dear Karen: You are absolutely right, and I apologize to you and to everyone who has the name Karen who might have been offended. This brings up a larger problem with our polarized politics and social media, where someone designates something, such as a person's name, as being symbolic of something that is bad. This is a form of bullying, and we all need to be aware of it and avoid it. Thank you for writing.

out the businesses that thrive off tourist's dollars could use a strong 2021.

Courtney said that after a year of events being canceled due to COVID-19, it was crucial that this year's Madison Regatta take place because of the impact that it and other festivals have on Madison's economy. In fact, the city and the Jefferson County Board of Tourism both chipped in $50,000 each to make sure the event was held.

"The Regatta was the perfect event to begin Madison's festival season," Courtney said, just minutes after presenting the APBA Gold Cup that would have been awarded in 2020 if the event had not been canceled. "It was an outdoor event that was significantly safe with it being spread out along the riverfront ... This is the first event of the rest of our event season. It was so important that we have the Regatta and that it be safely done. We were able to do it."

Courtney said local officials will still exercise due diligence in the days after the Regatta by watching the county's COVID infection rates and metrics to see if there is any change. He's not expecting that to happen since many local residents have already been vaccinated and more are getting the shots all the time.

If the numbers remain as low coming out of Regatta as they were going in, that could signal a big festival season for other events like the upcoming Jefferson County 4-H Fair in July 13-18, the Madison Ribberfest Aug. 20-21, the National Boat Racing Heritage Center Presents Madison Vintage Thunder Sept. 18-19 and 50th Madison Chautauqua Festival of Art Sept. 25-26.

Holcomb misses Governor's Cup for trade mission

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Gov. Eric Holcomb wasn't on hand to present the Indiana Governor's Cup to Miss Madison Racing and driver Jimmy Shane — he did just that when the series last raced in Madison in 2019 — but he had a good reason for missing on Sunday.

According to Madison Mayor Bob Courtney the governor's current foreign trade trip to the Persian Gulf prevented his attendance so State Sen. Randy Frye was called upon to present the Governor's Cup.

Holcomb, a graduate of Hanover College, has been to several Madison Regattas as both governor and lieutenant governor under Mike Pence, often visiting with the Miss Madison Racing team in the pits and even watching the 2019 final heat from the dock before presenting the Governor's Cup later at the trophy presentation.

The trade trip planned to Qatar — ironically the site of the most recent H1 Unlimited race on foreign soil in 2013 when Shane won two races in Doha in less than a month — was to leave Indianapolis Monday morning and return Friday for what the state economic development office says is an effort to boost business relationships with the region.

Eric Holcomb

Holcomb will be joined on the trip by new state Secretary of Commerce Brad Chambers and agency staff members.

Holcomb's itinerary includes meetings with government and business leaders in the country's capital of Doha and a visit with U.S. troops serving at Al-Udeid Air Base, a staging point for U.S. operations in the region.

Indiana officials hope to increase business investment from Qatar as the country looks to diversify its economy beyond oil and natural gas production.

Indiana exported $43.4 million in goods to Qatar last year, according to the state development agency.

Holcomb's Qatar trip, which is being paid for by private donations to the Indiana Economic Development Foundation, follows his trip to Israel in May in order to show support for the country after the 11-day war between Israel and Gaza's militant Hamas rulers.

Shane delivers on 50th anniversary of historic win

Victory was team's 6th Gold Cup win

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Jimmy Shane drove a picture-perfect race to cap off a less than perfect weekend and steer the U-1 Miss HomeStreet/Miss Madison to a rousing win in the APBA Gold Cup on the team's home waters Sunday.

High water and debris forced cancelation of all on-water activity on Friday and there wasn't any action on Saturday until after noon. While water conditions were nearly ideal on Sunday, Madison's notorious first turn still played its part all day, chewing up boats and spitting them out.

All but the HomeStreet, that is. Shane navigated the first turn with aplomb, besting his opponents time and time again with picture-perfect turns that put the black-and-gold Miss Madison out in front every time.

"The key to this race was the first turn," said HomeStreet crew chief Mike Hanson, himself a former Miss Madison pilot. "And Jimmy was perfect all day."

The Final Heat was a microcosm of the day. While Shane didn't necessarily want lane one in the final, his competitors ceded it to him during the milling period and Shane made most of it.

Crafty veteran Dave Villwock led the field at the start in the U-40 Miss Beacon Plumbing, but it was Shane who came out of turn one in front and then never looked back. With only Andrew Tate left to challenge him — and his boat stricken with broken rear wings — Shane was never threatened as he cruised to the win.

"I've been saying all along that it is a risk-reward trying to go in lane one here. Luckily with just four boats, you can get a little bit of room," Shane said. "Dave held me in there pretty tight. I was about a boat-length behind going into the corner and I think coming out I might have had one boat-length advantage and the boat just had the right package, the right set-up for the water, and we took off."

Villwock actually was assessed a one-lap penalty in that first turn when he beared out, forcing the rest of the field to swing wide. Once the penalty was announced, Villwock laid back and settled for fifth.

Tate was the only driver who had a chance to catch Shane. The 2018 Gold Cup winner stayed on

Kennedy runs away with GP win in 1st trip to Madison

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Brandon Kennedy made his first trip to Madison memorable, running away with a win in the Final Heat of the Grand Prix America Series race on the Ohio River on Sunday.

Kennedy, the 28-year-old driver from Newark, Delaware, was nearly unbeatable all day, winning both of his preliminary heats with ease in his GP-14 River City Printing. An expected showdown with Andrew Tate and the U-777 Steeler in the final didn't materialize after Tate's ride sustained engine problems, but Kennedy still needed to fend off a hard changing Jeff Bernard in the final for the win.

The victory was first for owner Richard Hearn and Hearn Motorsports, which is based out of Syracuse, Indiana.

"I'm just so glad to get this win. It's Richard Hearn's first win and first time finishing heats with GPs," Kennedy said. "He put his trust in us."

Carter Leak, 21, of North Vernon, was the winner of Saturday's Madison Regatta Firecracker 10K Run with a time of 31:33 for the 6.2-mile road race. Leak, a first-time winner of the event, is a sophomore at Purdue Northwest and runs cross county for the Pride.

Leak finally breaks through to win Firecracker 10K

Trimble Co. junior Kunkel is top female

BY BOB DEMAREE

Carter Leak hasn't missed a Madison Firecracker 10K since 2016, and he's always been among the top finishers, but this year's race was different. As usual, he was one of the top finishers, but this year he won, finishing ahead a five-time winner Kristopher Sandlin by 14 seconds.

Leak, 20, of North Vernon, had a personal best time of 31:33 to defeat Sandlin, 29, of Madison, second with a time of 31:47. Kinley Kunkel, 16, of Bedford, Kentucky, was the top female race in 41:31.

"It's been a long time coming," said Leak. "It was nice to win." Leak was third in the 2019 10K, fourth in 2018, second in 2017 and 11th in 2016.

Sandlin said he was leading for the first 2-1/2 to 3 miles when Leak caught him and they ran together for the next 3 miles. He said Leak pulled ahead "as we were going down the big hill."

When the two runners arrived at the final uphill stretch on Third Street, Leak surged ahead but Sandlin answered. However, when Leak kicked a second time he finally got enough separation to surge ahead and stay out front the rest of the way.

"We were both going at it, battling the whole time," said Leak.

Leak, who runs cross country at Purdue Northwest University, is a 2020 graduate of Jennings County High School, where he advanced to the Indiana High School Athletic Association's state meet each of his four years in high school.

Sandlin won the 10K race in 2013, 2014, 2015, 2017 and 2019. In 2016, Sandlin finished third behind race winner Kyle Stansbury and second place finisher Danny Fisher. In 2018, Sandlin was second behind Jeremy Johnson of Austin.

Even while finishing second in this year's race, Sandlin's 31:47 time was his best in the Firecracker 10K since his 2015 win when he ran a 31:12.

Sandlin, who now coaches cross country at Madison, said he has been training a lot and feels he's in "real good shape," but that Leak ran a good race, and noted he's "gone to the next level" since competing in college.

Kunkel, a junior at Trimble County High School, scored her first win in the event.

"I felt pretty good," she said, noting she just wanted to keep going as hard as possible to stay ahead of the other females in the race. "I knew there would be a few close, and tried to keep going so they didn't catch up."

Sue Nickol-Webb, 36, of Milton, Kentucky, was the second female to cross the finish line at 42:44 followed by Leah Anders, 20, of Rising Sun, at 43:00. Anders, a Switzerland County graduate and junior at Hanover College, was the female winner in 2016, 2018 and 2019.

A total of 193 runners — 95 males and 98 females — competed in the run with another 83 — 60 females and 23 males — participating in the walk, which is non-competitive. Steven Floyd, 66, of Bloomington, Indiana, was the first walker in 1:13.58. The first female walker was Sue Brown, 62, of New Castle, in 1:18:50. Full results will be in Thursday's Madison Courier and on www.madisoncourier.com.

SHANE

Shane's hip through the first lap, but took a big hop in the first turn on the second lap and damaged his wings. By the start of the third lap, the wings were gone.

Without the rear wings, Tate was able to corner his boat better, but he simply didn't have the speed in the straightaways to keep up with Shane.

"That was pretty interesting. I've never driven a boat without a rear wing before," Tate said. "Overall we had a pretty good day; I just wish we could have done better in the final."

"The key to this race was the first turn. And Jimmy was perfect all day."

— Mike Hanson
HomeStreet crew chief

Corey Peabody finished third in the U-9 Pinnacle Peak Consultants, his second podium finish in as many weeks on the H1 Unlimited Series, while Jamie Nilsen was fourth in the U-11 J&Ds. Nilsen was questionable to even make the final after sustaining boat damage — again in the first turn — but the crew worked hard to repair the busted sponson and get the boat back on the water.

The fastest boat in the field, J. Michael Kelly's U-8 Miss Tri-Cities, missed the final heat one week after winning the season-opener in Guntersville, Alabama. Like everybody else, Kelly had trouble in the first turn, spinning out twice, the second of which forced the team from the race after the skidfin pulled away from the hull, ripping a hole in the side of the boat.

The six preliminary heats were dominated by Shane and Tate, who won three each and didn't get a chance to face each other until the final. Tate's win in Heat 3A was the most exciting of the day. After Kelly spun out while leading the heat, Tate and Peabody battled deck-to-deck for three laps before Tate pulled away over the final 400 feet to win by a boat-length.

Shane's victory came 50 years to the day of the team's signature win when Jim McCormick steered the Miss Madison to victory in the APBA Gold Cup at Madison. This year also marks the 60th anniversary of the Miss Madison Racing Team's founding and the 70th anniversary of the first Indiana Governor's Cup at Madison.

Shane posed for pictures with the Gold Cup and McCormick's grandson, Jak McCormick, after the race and said that he was thrilled to keep the tradition alive.

"We accomplished all of our goals with this race and I couldn't be happier for the team or the citizens of Madison," said Shane, who won his fifth APBA Gold Cup and the team's sixth. "It's a pretty historic win, 50 years after Jim McCormick and just a wonderful way to finish off the weekend."

KENNEDY

Kennedy went into the final as the favorite but got a tougher than expected battle from Bernard, who beat the field into the first turn and led for the first lap in the GP-79 Bad Influence. Kennedy's superior speed allowed him to take the lead, but Bernard never backed off and stayed on his hip pushing the rest of the way.

"Jeff is a great driver and he left me a lot of room," Kennedy said. "The next thing I was worried about was the hole in the first turn that everybody talks about. I found it and got through it, but it was tough. The Ohio River is no joke."

Bernard, who also drives for Miss Madison Racing and spent last weekend in the cockpit of the U-1 Miss HomeStreet/Miss Madison at Guntersville, Alabama, said he did his best to run down Kennedy but to no avail.

"Every time I turned the boat it was like it was out of gas and would stall and then take off again. I'm not sure what was going on," Bernard said. "It's unfortunate. I think we had a shot. I nailed the start and led them through the first turn but just couldn't keep it going in the turns."

Bobby Kennedy, Brandon's cousin, finished third in the final aboard the GP-35. It was an emotional podium for the Kennedy clan. Not only was the race Bobby's first at the GP level, but it was also the first since the family lost their grandfather over the offseason. Brandon, Bobby and Brandon's father, George, all embraced on the boat after the final heat.

"We lost our poppy and this was our first race without him, but I know that he had something to do with it," Brandon Kennedy said.

Ed Preston ran fourth aboard the GP-20 while Mark Weber was fifth in the GP-7. Greg Hopp's GP-15 did not finish.

Water conditions on the Ohio River forced the series to abandon all activity on Friday, but after a test session on Saturday, the GPs were able to run their first set of heats with Tate and Brandon Kennedy each rolling to easy wins.

The GPs had scheduled two sets of preliminary heats on Sunday but ran only one before the final. Brandon Kennedy again had an easy win with Bernard claiming Heat 2B.

A total of nine Grand Prix boats were expected to be in Madison this weekend but one boat, the Baby Doll, was unfortunately damaged severely in an vehicle accident in Trimble County Thursday night as it was en route to the race. Both the boat and the RV pulling the boat, were heavily damaged and co-owner Kathleen Maraldo was injured.

The race was run under the umbrella of the Grand Prix America Series, but four of the eight boats that competed this past weekend also race in the Canadian-based Hydro Racing League, including all three of the top finishers. The HRL series, which raced in Saint Felicien, Quebec last month, travels to Valleyfield, Quebec July 15-18 for its biggest race of the season. HRL will also compete in North Tonawanda, New York (Aug. 6-7), Detroit (Aug. 20-22), Sorel-Tracy, Quebec (Sept. 3-5), Beauharnois, Quebec (Sept. 18-19) and Cambridge, Maryland (Oct. 9-10).

Madison serves as the season opener for the GPA series, which will travel to the Tri-Cities, Washington, on July 23-25 for its next race. The series will also compete in Owensboro, Kentucky (Aug. 20-22), San Diego (Sept. 17-19) and Phoenix (Sept. 25-26).
